

What happened to the earth?

Rising temperatures will also increase seawater temperatures, leading to increased frequency and intensity of typhoons, hurricanes, tropical storms, severe wind and flood damage, and rising sea levels.

People around the world will have to take action and try to improve, otherwise there will be a counterattack from nature. I hope everyone can cherish our earth and make it a good environment for everyone to live in.

Humpback Whale

